

Barbara Halden

Barbara Halden, M.S., currently works as contractor for the Center for a Livable Future at the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health. Her main focus is the Eating for the Future Program.

Barbara grew up in Germany where she earned her Master's degree in biology. Following immigration to the United States in 1993, she has worked as a botanist and microbiologist in various settings, including public and private universities, industry, and in a national research laboratory.

She has been active as a volunteer part-time for parks and schools in Baltimore since 2002, and became licensed as a Master Gardener for the city in 2005.